Freelance Project

I completed a freelance project for Al Hud Hud General Trading Co., specifically for one of their businesses, Double A Paper, to gain experience and because it is owned by a friend’s father. After finishing my second year at the University of Sulaimani, I wanted hands-on learning in my field, so I designed a database for their HR department to manage employee details, salaries, and attendance. The project improved my database design skills and helped me build a valuable connection with the company.
